2008 Money HOLIDAY GIFT GUIDE

JUST BECAUSE THE ECONOMY is melting down doesn't mean you should stiff your wife/kid/best friend this holiday season. There are plenty of ways to spread around some good cheer without going broke. A thoughtful $10 present can be as meaningful as one with a few more zeros, and pricier items can be amazing values if you choose wisely. Turn the page for 57 of the season's smartest gift buys—for everyone on your list—in six different price categories, from less than $25 to more than $500.

High-end gin for the price of low-end Scotch: G'Vine Nounison Gin ($40, GRANDWINECELLAR.COM) is delicate yet spicy.

Any golfer would love these Nike One Platinum balls ($43 for 12, SPORTSAUTHORITY)—Tiger Woods uses them on tour.

Score a touchdown with a football fanatic: Give him the folding Direct Designs Notebook Portable Grill ($42, APLUSSTORE.COM).

Anthropologie's Limoncello Necklace ($42, ANTHROPOLOGIE.COM) looks rich but won't break you.

Your kid will be stoked by the dizzying deck of the gnarly (and affordable) Branded Rising Sun Complete skateboard ($44, SKATEBOARDS.COM).

Textile designer Thomas Paul's 18-inch cotton twill throw pillows ($44 EACH, 2MODERN.COM) can brighten any room.

The age of embellishment is back. Reference: Urban Outfitters' Silhouette Clock ($32, URBANOUTFITTERS).

The Air Hogs RC Zero Gravity Micro ($30, TOYSRUS.COM) drives up walls and across ceilings. Really!

A patent leather tote is a fashion must for winter, and this one from Gap ($50, GAP.COM) is just the right price.

Vie Luxe St. Moritz Candles ($29 FOR THREE; 212-750-8288 FOR RETAILERS) smell of mulling spices.
